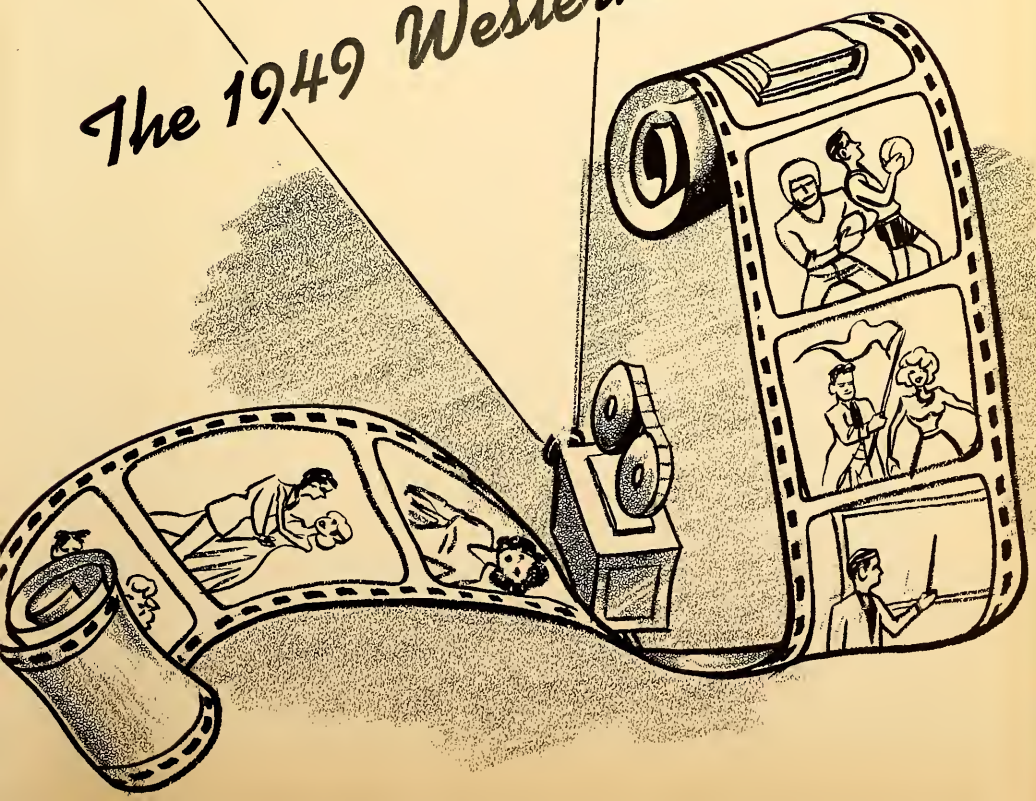
The 1949 Westerner



The Spirit Of The Book

Want to catch the gleam of a star?

The Westerner staff did. So in casting about for someone, or something, to catch the spirit of the 1949 Westerner, what could be more natural than a glance in the direction of lovely, Texas-born Ann Sheridan?

With the best of wishes to San Angelo High School, its faculty and students, Miss Sheridan, through her studio, Warner Bros., forwarded the picture on the opposite page especially for publication in the 1949 Westerner.

It took just one glance to convince staff members that if any picture could adequately portray the spirit of the '49 Westerner—or of any book—this is it!

We hope you like it as much as we do!

THE 1949 WESTERNER STAFF

BECAUSE....

of his sincere, friendly interest in each and every student in San Angelo High School . . .

of his willingness to give unstintingly of time and effort in furthering any project for the good of the school and its people . . .

of his remarkably sympathetic understanding of the problems that beset San Angelo High School students . . .

of the expert counsel and guidance, freely given, that so often held the key to a solution of these problems . . .

THE 1949 WESTERNER STAFF

dedicates the 1949 edition of the Westerner to Harry R. Fahrenbruch, Boys Counselor.

Staffers Hill, Thomson, Kreager, Brashears, Fairbanks and Editor Todd delve into scores of annuals in search of that nebulous something called an "idea" as work on the 1949 Westerner gets under way . . .

An Idea....

A Theme....

Sponsor Cole and Editor Todd spend further hours developing that nebulous idea into a "theme" . . . .

As the book takes shape literally thousands of pictures are sifted periodically . . . .

Thousands Of Pictures....

Of Course, A Paste Pot....

Staffers Fairbanks and Hill go into action with that old standby of any publications office, the paste pot . . . .

A Business Staff....

. . . with the persistence of a tax collector . . .

A Typewriter....

And someone to punch the keys . . .

Plus generous portions of blood, sweat and tears . . . and you have your

1949 Westerner

Okay — you've bought your ticket . . . . . and maybe a sack of popcorn! So let's click through the turnstile for a sneak preview of that feature attraction, the 1949 Westerner!

SAHS faculty members perform many duties beyond classroom teaching. Here Miss Kathryn Fisk (left) and Miss Jessie Stapp assist in first-of-year registration chores.

Playing leading roles in the '49 Westerner, of course, are those 'stars' — the Seniors.

The movie section of the Sunday paper offers material for planning. A date to see "Rope" or a gang party for "Sitting Pretty!" Looking at the week's entertainment prospects are Junior Class Secretary-Treasurer Gay Blanks, President Dave Marshall, Vice-President Doris Jones and Reporter John Harris. Miss Martha Brown is class sponsor.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, reorganized and enlarged, had many "firsts" this year. The first student body president was elected by the entire school from popular nominations. Richard Palmer won the election after a close race with Donald Goldston. Other officers for the new organization were chosen by the council itself. They included Dave Marshall, vice president; and Francis Cox, secretary. Lanis Gross and Mrs. George Todd served as sponsors to the group.

The 32 council members drafted a constitution, sponsored the daily scripture reading, published the student directory, and sent four delegates to the state convention of student councils in El Paso.

The council also studied the honor system, presided at assemblies and sponsored the Sock Hop, an all-school dance in the gym.

MEMBERS

Mid-term additions: Wanda Beaver, John Donaldson, Don Goldston, Franklyn Jones, Harold Seals.

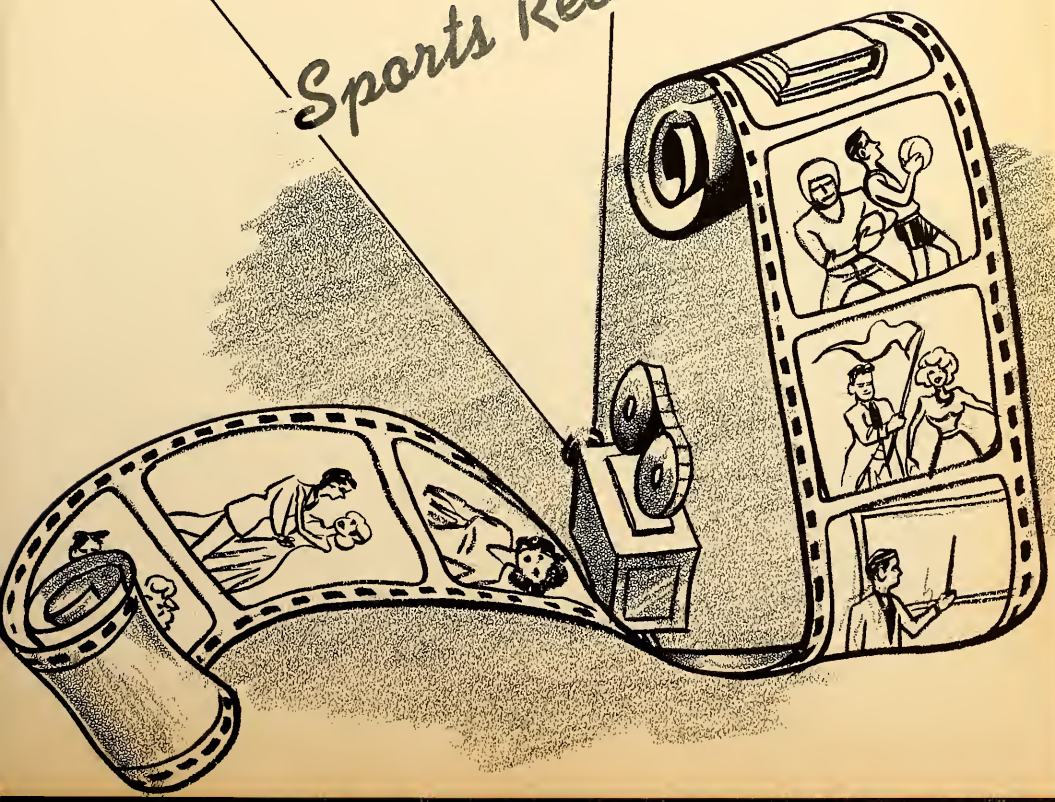
Sports Reel



A game — a football tilt with color and thrills to fans — and heartbreak and triumph and happiness and pain to the guys who play it. A football game — the classic Abilene — San Angelo battle, November 25.

This is it — the kick-off — this is tension and excitement and a half scared feeling pounding beneath a white jersey with orange numerals.

"Bobcats' ball on their own 15" — this is offense — hammering forward inch by inch — pitting skill and muscle power against a determined foe.

On the defensive now — straining to foresee what the Eagles plan — gambling everything to hold that line.

The first quarter — finally the half — time out but keep fighting, keep slugging it out for hours — plunging through the line and getting thrown back.

And then it happens — a lone figure streaks for the double stripe — a touchdown — six points for the Bobcats on the scoreboard — a touch of the promised triumph.

The end — the crowd mills, leaves — no, the Bobcats didn't win — score, as the announcer says in a flat tone, six to seven in favor of Abilene — a tired dusty 11 head for the showers and home.

The stars of that reel, of that game, of the season, were the 1948 Bobcats. Front row, left to right: Kenneth Martin, manager; Dwight Trice, Clifford Rowland, John Harris, Lewis Woodward, Jimmy Watts, Rastus Schleyer, Sam McKnight, Ray Barrett, Gerald Baker, Denny Southworth, Buddy Goode, and Willis Williams, manager. Back row, left to right: Coach C. L. Storrs, Head coach H. R. Ramsey, Terrell McMillan, Walter Hoes, Billy Gilley, Loren Reed, Del Roy Jezek, Bobby Clatterbuck, Roy Morris, Jimmy Magill, Joval Eblen, Joe Stewart, Mike Roberts, Bernard Petty, Edward Hartman, Pat Hall and coach J. The directors of the football reel — the coaches of the Bobcats do much to inspire the winning and spirit of a season. They are J. M. Moffett, backfield coach; Herschel Ramsey, head coach and C. L. Storrs, line coach.

THE KITTENS

The scrappy aggregation known as the Kitten football team played a full season with the "B" teams of other 3-AA contenders. Several of the outstanding players won reserve letters from the Bobcats as well as gaining valuable experience with the Kittens. Coach Jack Dillon instructed the following players: John Donaldson, Harold Hardy, Gary Sanderford, Clarence Barrett, Paul Matheny, Jimmy Joe Russell, Buddy Goode, Tommy Robinson, Ted Babb, Jerry Williams, Forrest Mayo, Claude Tatum, James Durden, Lindy Vautrain, Donald Baker, George Kendall, Gerald Boykin, Rayburn Pevoto, Marlin Kahns, Jerry Sykes, Loren Reed, Jack Broome, Ray Barrett, Joel Howerton, Joe Parker, Bob Babb, Bob Graham, Billy Cook, David Butler, Jack Purcell, Howell Whitsitt, George Cantrell, Earle English, John Harris, Tommy Nasworthy, Gene Staas, Alton Sargent, Carl Browder, and Rusty Seitz.

The fellows on the bench — Coach Dillon gives a briefing before seading in re-inforcements.

Unscrambling after a play — Barrett comes into the game Donaldson, Boykin, and Russell reconnoiter.

Down he goes — Donaldson, Sykes, and Whitsitt add some more yardage to the Kitten total.

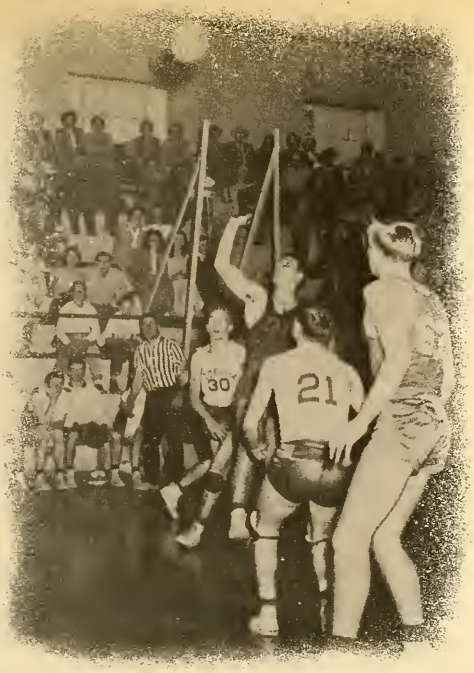
The extra point and the score is 7-0—Kendall gets away a high one to pile up another all-important point.

Kittens in action — Sanderford with Boykin's help forges ahead for a first down.

The harrowing moment — the ball hurtles toward the basket — a gasp — and it's in!

The Bobcat cagers kept the winter sports reel full of thrills and high sportsmanship. For the third year in a row the Cats went to district play-off before defeat. In every game the spirit of a hard-playing team and a conscientious coach showed itself. Bobcat gym was the scene of many close games — the Lamesa upset, the heart-breaker that Brownwood won. In the echoing cavern of that building the success of an untried five often hung in the balance.

A little fellow grows tall — a towering spring — and another two points are tallied for the Bobcats.



Jump ball — split second timing and getting up "fustest with the mostest push".

Now legal — time-out coaching — war council with Coach Kiick — rest and a towel to mop off with.

The twisting leap — Bobcat trade mark — rangy center turning fast — neat deposit of the ball in the basket.

Fast break — an agile figure flashing across the court — a high, straight pass — and up, over, and a score.

TRACK

A young, inexperienced track team with plenty of speed and eligibility gave the Bobcats a good start this year. Buddy Goode, Pat Hall, Billy Gilley and the relay team of Hall, Rowland, Goode and Gerald Baker placed in the district meet and qualified for region. Hall brought home a regional first in 220 dash and Buddy Goode placed second in the 100 and the 220 dashes. The relay squad came in second.

KID DAY

FRIDAY, MAY 13

Relaxing after ham and all the trimmin's

Abbott and Reece practice for the Sack Hop

Little senior kids journeyed by chartered bus to the E. M. de Berry ranch near Sonora for the celebration of Kid Day. Swimming, loafing in the sun, the sack races, and of course, the chow line were the chief sources of amusement. Even though the date was Friday, May 13, no accident befell the Kids.

The tie-tying contest that ended in a tie

What else but a que for food and plenty of it.

"HOME ON THE RANCH" WITH THE FUTURE FARMERS

Terrell McMillan displays his grand champion cross bred lamb. The animal was declared winner of the Tom Green County Stock Show held prior to the March Rodeo.

Vocational Agriculture class studies surveying. Every year the boundaries of SAHS are measured again by the eager surveyers of the FFA.

Milton Arrott shows the first place Duroc Jersey of the Tom Green County Stock Show.

Projects are an important part of the FFA program. Individual interprises such as this field of high grade cotton grown, cultivated and harvested by Jack Johnson, are not unusual.

Soil testing is another part of the class work of the FFA. Mr. E. E. Young, sponsor, demonstrates with Charles Sanders' help.

The Daughters of the American Republic sponsored a cotton dress contest among FHA members which brought these creations into being. Wearing their own handiwork are Evelyn Manitzas, June Probst, Elida Talivera, Helen Lieber, Mary Ellen McKenzie, Betty Whittle, Velma Green, and Doris Coe.

Christmas cheer via a food parcel to Europe! FHA members pack a box to send to the starving in foreign lands. Tradition has been broken this year as boys have joined the FHA. One of the brave males, Ralph Hodges, is in the background.

Members of a food class sit down to a self cooked meal. The FHA, sponsored by Miss Ina Jones and Miss Frances Epps, has met during class time in foods and clothing classes this year.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS "AT HOME"

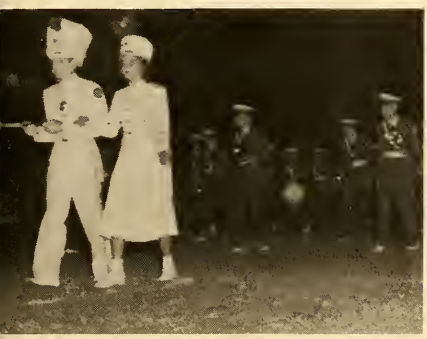
CHORAL MUSIC

A massed chorus of sixty voices sang the old Bach chorale "Jesu, Joy Of Man's Desiring" with flute obligato in the Christmas concert "Sing A Song Of Christmas". Also iacluded were Russian and American Christmas carols with special dancing accompanying them.

The Melodeers or special groups of Melodeers do many out-of-school programs for civic organizations and radio sponsors. Here a group of Melodeers prepare a radio program. Included are Jeanne Dickson, Mary Harris, Bonnie Standlee, Miss Jean Barlow, director; Joan Park, Mary Ruth Pape, Joan Martin, Carolyn Hardegree, Joyce Murdock and accompanist Delores Biggs. Lone male is tenor soloist Clark Wynne.

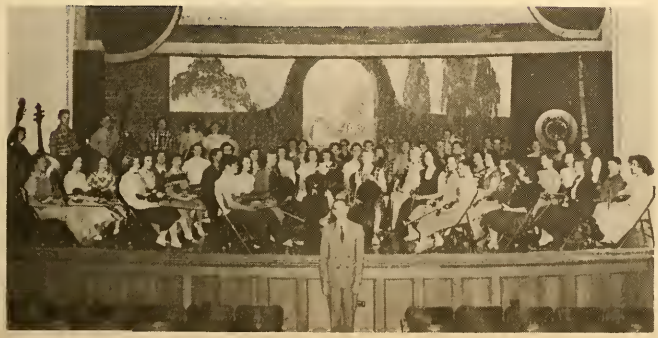
The chorus even took to marching. Not permanently but for a special between-halves formation the robed chorus marched and sang "Onward Christian Soldiers". With new, spacious practise room with specially designed seating, the chorus can be counted on to stay "at home" and not offer competition to the band.

Most pictures of the Bobcat Band show it marching. As a fixture of the parades and celebrations of San Angelo it gets a lot of practice marching!



Bobcat Stadium and the Bobcat Band. It is hard to think of one without the other. Drum-major T. J. Davis and Jerry Johnson lead the between-halves formation.

More parades — the Rodeo parade. The Band has acted as the official rodeo band for many years, playing for all performances.



The High School Orchestra, only organization of its kind in West Texas, went on a three day concert tour to San Antonio, Austin and Luling this year.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Keeping the shelves stocked is the business of Adela Camerena on her DE job.

Selling is the main objective of the DE program and Ethelene Braun seems well on her way to convincing her customer that buying should be her objective.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

The San Angelo unit of Distributive Education has offered training to 38 students during this school year. Early in 1949, president Billy Crockett, secretary Doris Jones and Pat Kelly, accompanied by co-ordinator Lanis Gross attended the state DE meet in Ft. Worth. There Pat was elected historian of the state organization and San Angelo was named the convention city for 1950.

Members of the DE club concentrate on the selling and advertising part of the business world. Through class room study and practical experience they learn the essentials of customer courtesy, selling techniques and personality development.

Over-the-counter salesmanship counts. James Crosby fills out an invoice after a sale.

San Angelo DE group is justifiably proud of Pat Kelly, who was elected historian at the state DE meet in Ft. Worth this year.

Advertising is such an important phase of merchandising that it is included under the DE program, too. Don Miller plans the layout for a super collossal sale.

"How to Be a Good Secretary" — T&I offers on the job experience to secretarial training students. Glenda Reece types, files and gets valuable know-how on her job.

Richard Schuman arranges a bouquet on his T&I-sponsored job. Florists, draftsmen, skilled technicians, mechanics, and business men are trained under the all-inclusive T&I program.

Laboratory technicians graw and flourish under part-time training. Carpethia Olsen practices on Co-ordinator Kinsey.

TRADES AND INDUSTRIES

The part-time training program of the Trades and Industries group has provided "on-the-job" education to 36 boys and girls. Under the T&I system each is assigned a training station in the particular professional field he desires to learn. In an hour class period he learns the finesse of the trade. During the afternoon he puts this into practice on the job. Careful supervision by program co-ordinator L. K. Kinsey brings individual attention and interest to the training station bosses and employees.

Photography is but one of the many fields in which T&I offers training. Bob Kunkel, who works part-time at Atkinson Studio, displays the finished picture as it is developed.

Concentration with the aid of cokes helps Hazel Ray and James Marshall meet the deadline. They struggle to write up the news gleaned from interviewing and just being nosey.

Helene Hope Schuch, George Brown and Virginia Bilderback scan the bulletin board for that all-important story assignment. Soon they will scatter to the gym, the annex and the various class rooms to collect the news.

Copyreading is sometimes a class proposition as all journalism students try their luck with a copy pencil.

"How can we ever fit that baseball story in here?" ponder sports editor Walter Schleyer, business manager Lois Estep, feature editor Bettie Todd, and co-editor Elaine Fairbanks as the dummy takes shape.

Co-editor Dorothy Kreager and news editor Nancy Sullivan take to typewriters to head up the news. They struggle with the head schedule and the unpredictable count.

The leaders of evaluation asked the Campus Corral staff and sponsor what the aim of the paper was. A long period of pondering and wondering ensued. The staff couldn't pin down the exact purpose or manage to put that elusive something into words.

Perhaps the student body and faculty of SAHS are the best judges of the why and wherefore of the Corral. News coverage, editorial comment and feature nonsense — but the Corral is more. To the staff it is something personal which sees the light of day only after struggle and toil. The Corral is partly theirs. Therefore its reason for being.

The proud history of the Corral is told in the All-American rating given it by University of Minnesota's critical newspaper service, last year. Ramona Landon, Mary Lou Murphy, and Bobbie Brumley look at the framed evidence of achievement on the office wall.

THE CAMPUS CORRAL

The paper arrives and is passed out to individual rooms. Bobbye Perry, exchange editor, distributes the Corral to Nancy Hardin, Wanda Butts, Mary Bolding, and Rhodes Morgan who will do the final job of handing it out.

And the presses finally roll! The Corral becomes an actuality after all the "blood, sweat and tears" that have been shed to make it.

"MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS"

"Meet Me In St. Louis, Louie; meet me at the fair". This line of lyrics from the popular song might well have been the theme of the 1949 senior play. And it was — for the scene was St. Louis in 1903 before the World's Fair. The cast had a gay time munching chicken legs and fudge and swallowing chicken hearts. They also doused each other with water and threw the cat, Lady Babbie, around. Four sisters of the Smith family were the main plotters in the plot and the boy friends of the two older sisters furnish the romantic touch. Trouble came in the form of a move to New York just as the Fair was starting. Therefore enter the dummy, the water bombs and the thrown cat. P. S. They won out and stayed in St. Louis.

Jessie McGilvray and Nancy Hardin, alias Tootie and Agnes, combine to make the mean little sister team of the Smith family. Here they are putting the finishing touches to the dummy which wrecks a trolley.

Grandpa tells a tall one to Agnes while Glenda Abbott as Katie furnishes fudge to keep him going.

The Smith family expresses its noisy disapproval of Papa Ralph Hodges's announcement that the family is moving to New York in time to miss the Fair.

The workers behind the scenes — prompters, props, wardrobe, publicity, and stage crew must be on the job for the play to be a finished production. Heads of these various vital services gather for last minute briefing.

A play can only be as good as its crew. Meet Me In St. Louis must have had a good crew. Working hard to make it a success were prompters Bonnie Standlee and Wanda Cook; publicity committeemen Dorothy Kreager, Jack Kettler, Don Miller, and La Nelle Motl; wardrobe committee Bettie Todd, Colleen Brickey, Dixie Hukel, Muriel Bahlman, Fern Mikeska, William Roberts, Stuart Herring and Jack Johnson; make-up helpers Lillye Lee Bulger, Sally Leatherman, Marion Phillips, Mary Ellen McKenzie and Dorothy Pavlicek; props committeemen Bobby Poynor, Willis Williams, Charles Nunley, and Loretta Henderson; stage crewmen Don Young and Benny Stuard.

Ushers were Dorothy Haynie, Ronda Edmondson, Anita Koselsky, Pat Fountain, Adela Camarena, Mildred Tafolla, Charline Foster, Glenda Reece and Clarke Wynne. Ticket sales were handled by R. J. Derby, Ernestine Bush, Don Goldston, Aubrey Helbert, Annette Morgan, Virginia Pearse, Mary Nunn, Bobby Gabbert, Wayne Hudgens, and Peggye McDonald.

Bobbye Perry, as Rose, and Joe Guttery as John Sheppard, played the romantic leads in "Meet Me In St. Louis". Those "notes" are fifteen pages of apologies for their quarrel.

The Fosters — the Mr. and Mrs. and two beaming kiddies. Haanah, the maid, stays in the background and eyes the angelic Randolph with distrust. He can't stay out of mischief for long at a time.

During the grind of rehearsals Judy and Randolph — Bob Morris — sweat out their line while Director Chenault and the remaining cast relax with cokes. Prompter Shirley McDonald is still faithfully on the job, too.

A DATE WITH JUDY

The radio and movie hit A Date With Judy came to life on the municipal auditorium stage December 3 under the sponsorship of Footlighters. Footlighter members composed the cast, crew, and various committees necessary to production. The play was directed by Miss Vivian Chenault.

The cast included Jennie Lee Melton, Iris Toliver, Barbara Curry, Bob Morris, Edgar Peck, Patricia Tippett, Gregg Metcalf, Wanda Mikeska, Joan Bollinger, Janelle Duncan, Louise Gayer, Jack Roberts, Ralph Hodges and Mary Lou Murphy.

The plot concerned Judy's trials and tribulations while attempting to "beat the slacks off Tootsie Whiteman". Needless to say she finally did but Tootsie had to break out with hives in the meantime.

Gregg Metcalf — makes appropriately romantic sounds to Judy — Jennie Lee Melton — as he tries his new song out for her. Looks like she approves but poor Oogie isn't the only man in Judy's life so his troubles are not yet over.

Janelle Duncan recites for Broadway producer Jack Roberts. Even though her performance wasn't well received she got a swell chance to orate "the sea, the sea, the open sea!".

The name we read was Miss Gwladys Cowles. The diminutive teacher had come to have her picture made for the Westerner at the first of school. Conversation was next to impossible as her Welsh brogue was thick and our Texas drawl slow. The picture was made, however, and turned out well.

As the year has progressed the whole student body has learned to know and love Miss Cowles. She has given special talks for home rooms. She has been endlessly patient with the questions of countless reporters and just interested Texans. And we have learned to understand her without an interpreter!

Now in a short while Miss Cowles will return to her native Wales. We are much more than sorry to see her go. She is a fascinating addition to San Angelo High School.

And so to you, Miss Cowles, the Westerner staff dedicates this page, as a small token of the appreciation of all SAHS.
